

To whom it may concern:

I am a director and producer at Durt Productions.

I worked with Phil Lewis and Julie Anderson of 'Secrets Of' on the 'That fucking tank' music video for the song 'Mr Blood'. They provided the art direction, set decoration and dressing and basically gave up two weeks of their time to help achieve our ideas

I found both Phil and Julie to be honest, extremely hard-working, very friendly and generally owe them so much. They came on board, initially paid to do only one weekends work, but subsequently stayed on board and helped out for the rest of the shoot. They put in long hours and gave 110%, without which, our production would be nothing. I can't honestly express how amazing they are and how grateful I am to have met them.

I would have no hesitation in using their services again and in recommending them to others.

Yours faithfully,

Matt Green
